the fact that the rules under the Industrial Disputes Act have not yet been framed ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—That may be one reason.

Sri M. C. NARASIMHAN.—When will the rules be framed ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—Notice.

Sri K. PUTTASWAMY.—The Government was pleased to say that the question of referring the matter to the Central Government is under consideration. Is that the reason for the delay in referring these disputes to the tribunal ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—I have already answered that that is one of the reasons.

Sri K. PUTTASWAMY.—What are the other reasons ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—There are several reasons. If the Hon'ble Member has any particular idea in mind I can answer it.

Sri K. PUTTASWAMY.—One of the reasons for the delay is that the matter has to be referred to the Government of India. What are the other reasons ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—Complexity of the question and the need for study of the problem are some of the other reasons.

Sri M. C. NARASIMHAN.—So far as the Hindustan Aircraft is concerned, the conciliation proceedings failed in August 1955. It is now nearly two years since then. Is this time not enough for the Government to make up their mind ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—Government have not been idle during that period. They have been actively considering the matter and they will come to an early conclusion.

Sri ANNA RAO GANAMUKHI.—Has Government received any communication from the Central Government that the matter is under their active consideration ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—Notice.

Sri M. C. NARASIMHAN.—Has not the Government fully studied the whole question ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—The Government have fully studied the question and there are some points on which conclusions have to be arrived at.

Sri G. DUGGAPPA.—What are the other points which have yet to be studied by the Government ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—The implications have to be considered and the points that have to be precisely referred are being finalised.

Sri G. DUGGAPPA.—When will the Hon'ble Minister be able to say definitely as to when it will be possible to refer these disputes to the tribunal ?

Sri B. VAIKUNTA BALIGA.—The moment the conclusions are arrived at; I will not delay this question a minute longer.

Mr. SPEAKER.—The question hour is over.
